Bring on the aspirin!

I carried two packages of Band-Aids around for a week and had planned to give them to Ben Waring and Iman Weeks—two Holland supporters on Wednesday morning. To make a long story short I had to take 'em myself.

Hon. Russell O. Morrow is sitting pretty for the next term of the legislature. He went on the stump in this and neighboring counties for Seward L. Holland for governor. Russell always has been a lucky chap and I know he will get some good committee appointments next spring when the legislature meets.

"Alex" Arnette was a happy cracker Tuesday night when the returns came in. Don Morris, editor of the Palm Beach Post, informed Alex on the steps of the Post-Times office that he had been elected. It was a relief to him in a few feet of them and would just not express how happy Alex really was. He is a bright fellow, ready to serve in the office of circuit clerk and has thousands of friends who will be pulling for him and a successful tenure of office.

Talk about speed, dash and action! That Palm Beach Post-Times outfit just can't be beat when it comes to tabulating election returns. Just a few minutes after two hours after the polls are closed throughout the county, the loud speaker at the Post-Times office gave the consolidated results from all of the county's 29 precincts. That's what I call giving returns and giving them fast. The boys know their stuff and with a competent group of reporters scattered all over the county, Don Morris and his crew of workers really put on an election party for Palm Beach county folks.

On the back page of this newspaper you'll find the full and complete returns from all precincts in Palm Beach county. That's another little service the Post-Times furnished to this newspaper, and for which we are indeed grateful.

Well, another election is history and as usual I picked a lot of losers. Some of these days I want to pick a flock of winners and then I'll have something to brag about. But, by the time that happens I may be too old to do much crowing.

I'm fast learning to say: "Governor Holland!"

Former Mayor Of Belle Glade Dies After Long Illness

Ralph K. Harris Succumbs In Veterans Hospital At Bay Pines

A prolonged illness of several months duration ended in the death of R. K. Harris, of Belle Glade, at the Veterans Hospital at Bay Pines, on Monday, Mr. Harris, a World War veteran, had spent several months at that institution and had only recently been brought home, but suffered a backset last week, and was taken for a second time to the soldier hospital.

When Belle Glade began to pass from village swaddling clothes to the mature ones of a thriving small city, Mr. Harris was one of the first to serve the city as its clerk, then a term as mayor, and then a portion of a term as a city councilman and during all his official tenure he served faithfully and well.

He held membership in the Everglades Post, American Legion in whose behalf he had been an honored and active member. He also was affiliated with the Woodmen of the World, and was also a Presbyterian in denominational membership.

Record Number Of Graduates Receive High School Diplomas

Free Honeymoon At Daytona Beach

64 Young Men & Women Awarded For Four Years Work

A single photograph, even a snapshot, is sufficient to win some of the Pahokee High school graduates a free honeymoon at Daytona Beach. When 30 graduates of the high school and 24 young men, presented themselves in collegiate caps and gowns to President Carl Wadell of the County Board of Public Instruction for their diplomas, as a reward for arduous labor, study and sacrifice during the long past year of four years of high school life. It was a record class in number, and its scholastic attainments were up above the average mark.

The plan for holding the commencement out of doors, an innovation, at the last minute had to be changed because of the inclement weather.

It was a crowning hour of glory for the graduates, the members of the class, the parents and the faculty, for it was a goal that many had worked so hard to reach. The program as previously planned was carried out in full.

The graduation band, under the direction of Prof. Frank Sturcho, was present and rendered the national anthem. This new band unit in the eight months of its existence, has grown into a most efficient musical organization, and its future is exceptionally well assured.

THE FUTURE LOOKS BRIGHT

There is an old saying about "Behind every cloud there is a silver lining" and it surely looks like when it comes to some of the products of this immediate season.

Last winter when we had "that cold snap" and when many were tucking their heads under their wing and moaning about how this end of the country was "sorely going to the dogs," everything was frozen solid and there would be nothing doing in these parts for at least two years to come; especially with limes, avocados and a few other of the citrus-fruits and that there was no use in trying to go ahead, etc., and so on.

Now comes the silver lining. Those who will have Persian Limes and avocados to sell this season are certainly sitting pretty. It is just about the same as having money in the bank or in the event the Persian lime grove is large enough so to acreage it would then be just about the same as owning the bank.

Citrus fruits after the state were badly damaged by the freeze and many communities further north will have neither limes nor much of anything else to sell.

...all of which means that the prices are dropping and continue to drop. Right now and here in Homestead Persian limes are selling at 40c per dozen and hard to get at that. The new crop will not be on the market for several weeks yet, but in the meantime those who have a nice crop ripening on the tree are beginning to look around and noting what a wonderful place this section of the country happens to be. Better yet the Persian lime crop looks good in this immediate future.

SHORTER BALLOT NEEDED

Polling place congestion can and must be prevented in the future without weakening any of the invaluable safeguards which Hillsborough county citizens have thrown around the honesty of their elections. The county commissioners' discussion of problems arising in last week's voting is a reflection of popular demand for action.

The next legislative act should be to reduce the length of the first primary ballot by at least one-third by eliminating the meaningless four races for presidential electors and by reducing the so-called "ballot races at the end" to a maximum of three, with these three made to mean something by providing for a clean-cut statement of national issues.

The county commissioners can help most by vigorous supporting the public demand on the next legislature for a revision of primary laws to shorten the ballot and enable Floridians to show just where they stand on national issues. —Tampa Times.

It is a certificate showing that the Pahokee High school has been approved for a school of the past school year, and places it on the Accredited list for the year 1939-40.

Prof. Canfield expresses himself as well pleased with the work which the faculty and student body have accomplished during the year and is looking forward to better and more extensive work during the coming year. Bishops Name Area Residences

The Board of Bishops of the Methodist church, last week, met and selected area residences for the coming four years. Bishop Moore is a native Georgian, so will be at home among his own people after spending many years in the Orient as an episcopate supervisor. He is one of the most popular bishops of the United Church and Florida and is to be congratulated in being assigned such an outstanding church leader and his office.

On the other hand the Florida churches are being deprived of a fine administrator in the resignation of Bishop Kern, who has done outstanding work in his area.

Unusual Fire Is Cause Severe Loss

While Ralph Osborne, of the West Palm Beach Mercantile company was enroute to the lake for a fishing trip, last Thursday he sustained a heavy fire loss near Canal Point. The party had a trailer, on which fishing equipment and Sheriff "H" Lawrence's boat were loaded. There were some loose papers in the boat, and a discarded cigarette butt landed in the boat, causing the expensive conflagration and loss of around $1000 worth of fishing equipment.

A by stander saw the blaze and turned his car and chased the party to inform it of the condition of the trailer.

The automobile was detached from the trailer. Bobby Joe Sanders of the Pahokee fire department made a run to land around the boat, but the trailer and contents were demolished.

The loss consisted of trailer, boat, motors and a large collection of fishing tackle.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

It has been a tough two weeks for those candidate in the runoff, confronted with the problem of arousing public alarm over matters of local import in competition with fast moving world events, account monopolized front pages and dominated the air waves.

"The plight of our old folks age" by world events, as to make them seem of little consequence.

Floridians in particular have reason to be concerned over the matter of affairs in Europe for this state, because of its geographical location, is in a most preposition in relation to the national defense. Closest of all states to the Panama Canal and to the land possessions of involved powers located in the Caribbean may well ask what the future holds for us.

At Tampa, Jacksonville, Ocala, Miami, Pensacola and Key West, we see the feverish activity of army and navy officials as they cash plans for the establishment of military bases that should be set up long ago.

The hum of flying fortresses and pursuit planes drone in Florida, skies as they are put through their paces while offshore the casual observer may glimpse the grim gray shapes of prowling battle craft and gunners in their watery.

In spite of the fact that occasionally separate from the thought of conflict, the thoughtful citizen no longer finds that fact very comforting, particularly since the fate of Britain, Italy and French possessions at our very doorstep remain in doubt and the establishment of the immediate re-establishment of naval and air bases on these islands by an unfriendly power becomes a possibility.

It is indeed a time for clear thinking and straight talking, and Floridians have a right to look to the delegations in Congress and their leaders at home for action and to insure protection of our state and its people.

Today our principal cities, most of which harbor thousands of troops, stand without protection. There are few, if any, anti-aircraft guns in the state, and should the enemy decide to attack, we would find ourselves practically helpless, dependent wholly upon our naval forces and aviation units to ward

He was addressing the delegates the opportunities of the future for all, and advised each to find out their own part in life, prepare themselves for it and enjoy it, gaining the needed education to do so, and from the outside world from personal contact.
